

Red Maple

Description: abundant throughout eastern North America. Principal lobes of leaves meet in a V rather than a U. The leaves turn a brilliant red in autumn. Spring buds are a favorite food of tree squirrels.

Family: Sapindaceae

Scientific name:
Acer rubrum

For more information about NATL plants, visit <http://natl.ifas.ufl.edu/plants.htm>