

Loblolly Pine

Pinus taeda (Pinaceae)

Identification: Needles modest in length, borne on slender branchlets. Cones many, small, and prickly (samples on ground).

Notes: In north Florida, loblolly pines mostly occur in even-age stands on abandoned farm land and in small patches in hammocks where windfalls have opened the canopy