

Carolina Wild Petunia

Description: native perennial; seeds visible through winter and borne on hooked projections; in growing season, plant is food for larvae of the Common Buckeye butterfly; petunia-like flowers are blue or violet

Family: Acanthaceae

Scientific name:
Ruellia caroliniensis

For more information about NATL plants, visit <http://natl.ifas.ufl.edu/plants.htm>